

After reading through the resources, take the Pleasure Test and see how you score. Give yourself one point for each correct answer.

1. The clitoris is the only human organ that exists solely for pleasure.
 - a. True
 - b. False

2. About ____ of the clitoris is externally exposed.
 - a. $\frac{1}{2}$
 - b. All
 - c. $\frac{3}{4}$
 - d. No part
 - e. $\frac{1}{4}$

3. Vaginal orgasms are different from clitoral orgasms.
 - a. True
 - b. False

4. The largest, most important, and most active sexual organ of the body is the
 - a. Brain
 - b. Penis
 - c. Vaginal canal
 - d. G-spot

5. Some people can reach orgasm with prostate stimulation alone.
 - a. True
 - b. False

6. School sex-education programs are required by law to be comprehensive and inclusive – meaning students are taught about LGBTQ sexuality and a range of scientifically accurate topics including orgasms, sexual pleasure, and consent.
 - a. True
 - b. False

Answers

1. A- Other body parts associated with sexual pleasure have at least one additional bodily function.
2. E- This means $\frac{3}{4}$ of this pleasure-inducing organ isn't even visible. This also explains why other areas of the vulva can feel so pleasurable!
3. B- Classifying orgasms as either "vaginal" or "clitoral" is inaccurate and misleading. The body is a complex web of responsive pleasure areas.
4. A- The pleasure center of your brain sends signals that what's happening feels good (or doesn't). The brain and nervous system transmit the feelings and sensations we have with orgasm.
5. A- This is true.
6. B- False. For example, as of 2018, seven states explicitly required school teachers to portray LGBTQ people negatively in sex education programs — or prohibited teachers from mentioning LGBTQ people at all.